FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BAILEY EDUCATION FOUNDATION, OWASSO, NAMES NEW BOARD MEMBERS

OWASSO, OKLAHOMA: The Bailey Education Foundation has named six new members to their Board. Please join us in welcoming Mike Raburn, First Christian Church; Keith Wilkes, Newton, O'Connor, Turner & Ketchum, Gayla Turpen, Turpen & Associates; Warren Lehr, City of Owasso; Derek Steeley, Exchange Bank Skiatook Branch; Danny Ewing, Ewings Fine Jewelry; and Stacy Spriggs, Small Animal Hospital.

They will assist the Foundation in its mission to have a meaningful and personal impact on the citizens of Owasso and the surrounding communities of northeastern Oklahoma with healthcare education programs.

In 2011, the Foundation impacted the lives of over 20,000 people through community education programs, non-profit group meetings, seminars, fundraising events and family oriented activities.

About the Bailey Educational Foundation

The Bailey Education Foundation supports Bailey Medical Center and their physicians' concept that cutting-edge medicine and community-based delivery are not mutually exclusive concepts. The farther patients are removed from their families, communities and religious support systems, the more often treatment can become isolating. The Bailey Educational Foundation and Bailey Medical Center believe that improved healing takes place where our patients live, work and play in our individual communities.

The communities our health system serves are some of the fastest growing in the state. The Bailey Education Foundation continues to support the latest treatment options and technology by offering facilities for health seminars. Raising the health status of our community will take time, money and most of all commitment. We are deeply committed to making our community the best in the country.
